Have you ever felt intense sadness you couldn't explain?
Have you ever grieved over an event while others told you, "Just get over it"?
Have you ever wished for closure after a traumatic event but didn't feel you achieved it?

This lecture addresses the sadness that affects so many veterinary staff members and examines the types of grief and lack of closure. In this 1-hour CE lecture, Dr. Bishop describes various types of grief, the myth of guaranteed closure and ways to deal with it to understand yourself better.

Speaker: Genie Bishop DVM

Dr. Genie Bishop received her Doctorate of Veterinary Medicine from Oklahoma State University in 1981. In her forty years as a veterinarian she has been a practice owner, worked emergency and relief, taught in a tech school. In 2005 she accepted the position of scientific services veterinarian. After earning the Veterinary Human Support Certificate from University of Tennessee, she now focuses her effort on writing and speaking on mental health in the veterinary profession.
